Marine Disasters—The Effects of Recent Gales.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 2.—The brig W. W. Argus, which left Liverpool on the 12th of February for Barbadoes, has not been heard of since.

The schooner Good Intent, of Aradat, was towed into port on Friday, full of water. Five bodies were taken from her hold.

The schooner Sassafras, of Providence, Massachusetts, was lost at Cape Negro, N. S., on Sunday night, during a storm. She was from the Grand Banks bound home, and was at Port Mouton on the 23d, and when the gale came on she anchored eastward of the rocks, near Cape Negro. She dragged her anchor and drifted among the breakers. The Captain and crew left in three davies, and were out all night. On the 25th, one of the davies returning, saw S. G. over. Manuel Silver and Anthony Thomas, of New Bedford, John Thomas, of Boston, Amos Corkum and John Mixus, of Halifax, landed at the Buelow light station, since which time nothing further has been heard of the other davies, which are believed to be lost.

The brig Faith, of Swansea, iron laden, foundered outside of Cascum-pex bar. During the storm all hands were lost.

The schooner Carrie Rich, Captain Thompson, was wrecked on North Reef, and all hands, 17 in number, perished.

Several vessels were wrecked north of Prince Edwards' Island. Eight bodies have been picked up on the east side of that place.

Capt. Spearman, of the schooner J. W. Fall, which arrived at this port yesterday, reports that when off Sambro light he passed the Brigadier Dundee, Capt. Bradshaw, totally dismissed.

The Geneva Award of $15,000,000 to be Paid into the Treasury This Month.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The report prevails that the Geneva Award of fifteen million and a half dollars has already been paid into the treasury, but on inquiry it has been ascertained that the preliminary arrangements only have been made for this purpose. It will be remembered that on the 6th of June the Secretary of the Treasury issued a call for the redemption of certain series of fifty-two bonds, more than covering the amount of the award, in anticipation of its payment, and that the British Government arranged with the syndicate to discharge this treat obligation in pursuance of a plan adopted. A large amount of these bonds have already been surrendered. The gold and gold certificates issued therefor to be made available on and after the sixth of September at the time of the formal redemption of the bonds. These gold certificates, it is understood, are in the hands of the British Consul at New York, but to be delivered together with other like representatives of specie value, covering the entire award, by the British Minister to the Secretary of State, and by him transferred to the Treasury as so much cash.

General Intelligence.

A Cleveland dispatch says that the steamer Jay Cooke ran down a yawl containing 9 persons, 4 of whom were drowned.

The cholera at Paris and Millsburg, Ky., is of the most malignant order. Every case at Millsburg has proven fatal, there being 18 deaths in 24 hours and 20 new cases. Eight deaths are reported at Stanford.

Fifty Vessels Wrecked off Magdalene Islands.

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—The marine and fishery department has received a dispatch from the Magdalene Islands stating that 50 vessels, American and British, were wrecked in the gale of the 21st ult.

Butler's Chances.

BOSTON, MASS., Sept. 2.—The list of delegates now stand, Butler 137, Washburn 86.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

The Genuine Asiatic Cholera Reported in Illinois.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2.—A dispatch from Okawville, Ill., twenty-nine miles from here, on the St. Louis & Southeastern Railroad, says the cholera of true Asiatic type is raging there fearfully. Twenty-three persons died in twelve hours, among them the principal bridge builder of the Southeastern Railroad and three children. Five died in one family in three hours. The patients die within fifteen minutes after the attack and turn black immediately. Medical aid will be sent for the surrounding towns. The citizens are rapidly leaving the place. Those remaining are using disinfectants freely and burning tar in the streets. It is said that no local cause exists for the disease.

The Cholera in France—A Proposition to Rebuild the Palace of the Tuilleries.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—The cholera has made its appearance among the troops quartered at Havre, having been communicated by German emigrants en route to the United States. The fashionable loungers at Trauxy are much alarmed and are leaving rapidly.

The Paris Figaro publishes a proposal to the royalists of France to subscribe money to rebuild the palace of the Tuilleries. The editor of Figaro offers to head the subscription with a contribution of $8,000.

Death of Gen. D. M. Barringer.

GREENBRIER WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 2.—General Daniel M. Barringer, of North Carolina, died here last night of jaundice. His remains will be taken to Raleigh to-morrow for interment.

Death of the Noted Beau Hickman—His Remains Find a Home in the Potter's Field.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 2.—Beau Hickman died at the Providence Hospital this morning. His remains were interred in the Potter's field.

LOCAL MATTER.

“Five Hundred Legal Tender Notes—All ‘Editors’ Should Look Well to ‘Their Legal Tenders.’”

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The following is the difference between the genuine and counterfeit five hundred legal tender note of the issue of 1869. The upright that holds the balance of the scales held in the hand of the female figure shows a white line in the counterfeit over the palm of the hand; to the second figure in the genuine the upright is quite black and lost in shadow. The lower part of the right in the portrait of Adams in the counterfeit forms an angle; in the genuine it is a distinct curved line; also the bottom in the counterfeit are irregular in shape, while in the genuine they are decidedly round and darker in color.

Particular attention is called to the button on the left side of the coat on the counterfeit. In the word “Washington” in the counterfeit note the black shade forming the first stroke of the letter “W” forms an angle at the bottom; in the genuine note it forms a curve. In the ruled shading under the right hand stroke of the letter “W” and over the letter “A” and “S” there are four ruled lines on the counterfeit, there are but three in the genuine. Under the letter “A” and “S” in the word Washington in the counterfeit there are five ruled lines, in the genuine there are but four. Under the letter “H” same word, there are four ruled lines in the counterfeit, in the genuine but three. At the bottom of the letter “F” in the denomination title there are 5 ruled lines in the counterfeit, 4 in the genuine. The localized film on the left of the portrait is blue in the genuine but without color in the counterfeit. The red seal in the genuine is printed in a delicate carmine color; in the counterfeit it is more of a brick color and has a heavy appearance, more especially the rays which form the outside of the seal. Attention is called to the blurred and scratchy appearance of the lathe work and lettering on the back of the counterfeit, which upon a comparison with the genuine will readily be perceived.

ANOTHER RAILROAD HORROR—Reported Trouble in Madrid—the Iron Clads Removed from Cartagena.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Accounts have been received of an accident on the Luxembourg R. R., in which 6 persons were killed and 15 hurt.

A report is current on exchange here that the municipal authorities of Madrid have raised the red flag of the Commune on the town hall, and that the military have discovered a secret deposit of arms, ammunition and petroleum belonging to the international. The rumor is not generally credited.

Vice Admiral Veltyer has taken the ironclads Almudia and Victoria from Cartagena and sent them to Gibraltar. The insurgents made no attempt to prevent the vessels from going.

The Schillinger pavement is being placed in front of the Raleigh National Bank.

Gen. D. M. Barringer was received with much reg. et in this city.

The Attorney-General of the State returned home yesterday evening, after an absence of some weeks.

Tax players will notice the card of Sheriff Lee in another column. Taxes must be paid by the 31st of this month.

Our townsmen, John Armstrong, Esq., who has been in Europe for the last two months, is expected soon to return home.

Woodson, our Local Chief, is in attendance upon Guilford Court, endeavoring to extend the circulation of the News in that locality.

Many of our citizens, who have been sojourning in the mountains and elsewhere during the summer, are returning home.

Mr. Jordan, the Depot Agent of the N. C. Road at Cary, has a small field of most beautiful cotton near the depot. The cotton fever is fast reaching that section.

We have failed to call attention to the double-column advertisement of Messrs. Julian Lewis & Co., on our second page. They have always on hand the best axes and edge tools.

“I see! I see!” said a gentleman said in his office yesterday, having an explanation a while upon an “eel” which he saw in a skillet upon our table, and being told it was a youthful shark. He was only surprised that he didn’t know what it was at first.

Now is the best time for our merchants to advertise in the News. The fall trade will soon be open and the public desire to know where the best bargains can be obtained. Any one has only to try the columns of the News to discover that advertising is the best.

Mr. Richardson left last night for Long Branch. Messrs. Belknap and Johnson are here to-night and Johnson is expected during the week. Judge Robinson, acting Senator of the Treasury, to whom as referred to the report the Board of Investigation concerning the Wauasset disaster, will to-morrow appear before the Friends of the Wauasset Disaster.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The Treasury disbursements last month was $20,233,500.

The President will not return this week—several of the members of the cabinet have called on him at Long Branch and consulted with him on hate needed the President’s personal attention, and consequently none is no actual necessity existing when the correspondent sent a dispatch published this morning, o-day a brief telegram from Madrid announces that Vice Admiral Veltyer has taken the vessels, and that there was no conflict. Whether the insurgent leaders abandoned their extreme position, or in what manner trouble was avoided is not yet known.

THE DAILY NEWS.

JORDAN STONE, Managing Editor.
SAM'L T. WILLIAMS, Political Editor.

WEDNESDAY.....SEPTEMBER 3, 1873.

MOSBY'S last raid—in the rear of HUGHES.

"Up in a balloon"—the leading editorial in the Charlotte Observer of the 29th of August.

We read all the brevities editorial in the Richmond Enquirer every day except Sunday. They are fresh, sparkling and pointed.

HUGHES was not born to be Governor of Virginia—so the Virginia Conservative newspapers say—so the people of Virginia will say in November.

THE Statesville Intelligencer will soon suffer an enlargement. It is true and loyal to the faith. It deserves to prosper.

THE Petersburg Index and Appeal tells of the funeral of the type-setter in that office who, for "MARIUS" at the ruins of Carthage, printed "MANUS' cottage."

THE issue in the Virginia contest the Richmond Whig calls the "Race Issue." Does that account for the raciness of the Enquirer's editorial brevities?

THE Clinton Reporter wishes it distinctly understood that it is not responsible for the views or the rhetoric of its correspondents.

That is good logical and legal doctrine.

THE Washington Republican is hard on Col. MOSBY now, because he opposes the Radical nominee for Governor of Virginia. The Republican says MOSBY has falsified his promises.

It is now said that MOSBY's country—Fauquier, will give one thousand majority for KEMPER. The Washington Advertiser doubts this. These Virginians are queer people.

EVER vigilant for the interests of Goldsboro, the Messenger has an able editorial advocating the claims of the GOLDSBORO INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION to be held in that town on the 1st of November, and to continue five days. Success to this laudable enterprise!

BREAKING rock in the Penitentiary is the employment suggested by the Charlotte Observer for the South Carolina officials. If some of these Radical thieves had their necks broken, the people would draw a deeper sigh of relief.

THE RALEIGH NEWS, one of our most valued exchanges and among the best conducted papers in the state.

We thank the Press for its handsome compliment, and regret that the News is not received regularly.

It seems to be settled now that Massachusetts has determined to have the Spoon Thief for Governor. A majority of Butler delegates have been chosen thus far. Well, Massachusetts will do the voting and Massachusetts will take her choice.

POOR LONGSTREET! The Allegheny Springs correspondent of the Norfolk Journal says that General LONGSTREET moves about among the visitors without friendly recognition from any, although many of his old associates in arms are sojourning at the Springs.

GEN. KEMPER, in a speech delivered at Lynchburg on Saturday, said the State of Virginia was in a blaze of enthusiasm for the Conservative candidates.

The gallant KEMPER will be borne into the Gubernatorial chair by such a majority as to make the hearts of true Virginians beat with joy.

MUNICIPAL munificence—the action of the town authorities of Goldsboro in voting a handsome money contribution to the Goldsboro Industrial Exposition.

The Messenger reports a large number of contributions from private citizens. Boxtriz in earnest about this Exposition, and he is going to make it a success if he is properly sustained.

THE latest dual canard—that in regard to the Slamey twins, now going the rounds of the papers. It is gravely asserted that CHANG was summoned as a juror "in a case in North Carolina, and Eng had to accompany him. The verdict was expected to be, 'because a man not a member of the jury was present in the jury-room when it was agreed upon.'

We have authority for saying that this yarn was not started by the Douglas Newsmen, as he is a minister of the Gospel.

THE "Uncompromising Union Editor of the Southern Home," Gen. HILL, has been lecturing recently to the Patrons of Husbandry. A large crowd was at Sharon to hear his address. The Charlotte Observer, speaking of Gen. HILL, says:

"He does not seem to inspire the vitality of the old warrior. Like old wind, his virtues increase in his years. His heart is as warmly enlisted in the welfare of his people to-day as it was when his body was exposed to Yankee bullets on the battle-field, and the combined assaults of all the denizens of earth could not break the hold which he has secured upon the affections of a grateful people."

Death of Hon. D. M. Barringer.

DANIEL M. BARRINGER is no more! He breathed his last at the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, on Monday, the first instant.

Gen. BARRINGER had been in delicate health for sometime. Early last Spring he was attacked with jaundice and was confined to his room for several weeks. He sufficiently recovered, however, to enable him to take a trip to the Cleveland Mineral Spring, in this State. He soon returned home without having received any material benefit from the visit. Being feeble and suffering still from the disease which had prostrated him in the Spring, he concluded to try the waters of the Greenbrier White Sulphur. He had not long been a sojourner there before intelligence reached us that he was seriously indisposed. Soon the tidings came that he was dangerously ill. His brothers received telegrams announcing his alarming condition and they hastened to his bedside.

Gen. RUFUS BARRINGER recently wrote home from the White Sulphur that he considered his brother improving and that there was some prospect of his recovering. This announcement we made in our paper yesterday.

Alas! for the vanity of human hope! While the compositors were setting the type containing the assurance in Gen. RUFUS BARRINGER's letter, the relatives of the deceased who were with him in his last illness, were kneeling in tears at the couch of death! The soul of DANIEL M. BARRINGER had left its earthly tabernacle, and was with its Maker.

Gen. BARRINGER had filled many positions of usefulness and honor in the councils of the State and the nation.

He was elected to Congress at a very early age and made a useful and able member. He began his political career under brilliant auspices. He was at one time the American Minister at the Court of Madrid. In 1855, he was a member of that famous Convention to alter the Constitution of the State, which was presided over by Nathaniel Macon, and which contained so much of talent, wisdom and patriotism.

At the time of his death he was Chairman of the Conservative Executive Committee of North Carolina, and in that capacity he labored with untiring zeal during the exciting campaign of last year for the success of our ticket.

Gen. BARRINGER was a gentleman of courteous manners, of extensive reading, which had been improved by travel abroad, of kind impulses and had many friends in all portions of the State who will be deeply grieved at his death.

He has left behind him an honorable name—which is a rich heritage.

Attack on the State Press. The State Lecturer of the Patrons of Husbandry traveled a long way out of his legitimate road when he attacked the State editorial fraternity in his speech at Faison's Hall, Sampson county. This is what the Clinton Reporter has to say about the criticism of this soft-handed son of oil:

"In his address in Faison's Hall, on Monday last, Rev. JOHN S. LONG, State Lecturer of the Patrons of Husbandry, took occasion to make a fling at the press of the State; which, we regret to have to say, was as low as it was bad and uncalled for. * * *

The man who thinks another will steal, or lie, or commit any immorality because he has the opportunity, judges himself with a terrible judgment, because he judges another out of his own heart.

So much for an ungraceful fling at the press from one who, until within a very recent period, was himself a member of the ink-slinging fraternity."

SENSIBLE resolution—that adopted by the Virginia Conservative Convention, and which the Petersburg Index and Appeal keeps at the head of its editorial columns, in regard to the treatment of independents and bolters. That resolution proposes to treat bolters from the Conservative organization, or opponents of Conservative nominees, "in all respects as Radicals."

Cool IMPUDENCE.—To invite an editor to attend a picnic, hop or other amusement, in another State, and then call on him for money to pay maintenance, exacting more than any other one has to pay—and then expect half a column paid from this knight of the quill. Shame! however, we never hesitate to pay our way when called on.—Raleigh News.

This is one of the hardest cases on record. We believe it is unprecedented.

THE CLINTON Reporter is responsible for the following rhetorical paragraph, for it is written by its Editor. They have a Sycamore street in Clinton as well as in Petersburg:

"The wave of improvement having swept clean through Sycamore street, that popular thoroughfare now presents a very healthy appearance."

The denizens of that "thoroughfare" should not get sick any more.

THE ticket-without-leave-man—R. M. COHEN, of Goldsboro. This man was recently arraigned before a Goldsboro Justice of the Peace, on the charge of obtaining from Maj. E. G. HAY, Insurance Agent of this city, a number of through tickets to New York, under false pretenses. The evidence against Cohen was so conclusive that he concluded to defer his New York trip. He was bound over for his appearance at the next Superior Court of Wayne.

He does not seem to inspire the vitality of the old warrior. Like old wind, his virtues increase in his years. His heart is as warmly enlisted in the welfare of his people to-day as it was when his body was exposed to Yankee bullets on the battle-field, and the combined assaults of all the denizens of earth could not break the hold which he has secured upon the affections of a grateful people."

BEN BUTLER made a ferocious attack upon the press in his Worcester speech, but that is no evidence of the unworthiness of the press. Mr. LOXON is said to be a fine lecturer and an eloquent speaker, but if he thinks he can make any capital for himself or the Grangers by denouncing newspapers, his judgment is at fault and not equal to his rhetoric.

John OWENS is pronounced by the Cincinnati Commercial to be the richest actor in the country.

THE DAILY NEWS.
WEDNESDAY.....SEPTEMBER 3, 1873.

NORTH CAROLINA.

The Rev. J. L. Long has organized a large number of Granges in the Eastern portion of the State.

Miss Laura Hartsoe, of Lincoln county, died from a congestive chill at Mathews Camp Meeting last Sunday night.

The Wilmington butchers last week slaughtered, for the benefit of the Wilmingtonians, 52 hives, 1 hog, 37 sheep and 2 calves.

Goldsboro is determined to have a Fair any way. The whole question will be decided this week, the Fair to commence on November 4th.

A negro man named William Jackson has been arrested in Wilmington charged with playing the highwayman on the streets of that city.

The Goldsboro Messenger says that the farmers of that section are complaining of damage to the cotton crop in consequence of the late heavy rains.

The Special Term of Mecklenburg Superior Court was adjourned on Friday last, after a six weeks' term, lacking one day. Judge Moore presided.

The Salem Female Academy was founded in 1804, and is said to be the oldest boarding school for young ladies in the Southern States. It is under the auspices of the Moravian Church.

A Hickory Tavern merchant is reported as saying: "Shust sooon ash you pullish narrow Gage Railroade past Hickory, I gedders mine pack, unt moves mine dirhicks and venie away somevare else, by tam."

The Newton Vindicator says that an investigating youth of that town has recently discovered that there are four million six hundred and twenty thousand, five hundred and twenty-six fleas within 123 yards of the public square.

Wilmington has a slow barber. Says the Local of the Journal:

"There is one barber in town who can never shave clean. The trouble is, he works so slowly that while he is scraping away at one side of the face the beard grows out on the other."

The Gazette says that an educational meeting was held in Warrenton last Thursday night, address being delivered by Capt. Dugger, Prof. McEver, Judge Watts, Capt. Bullock, E. W. Post, Esq., and others. Much interest was manifested in the meeting.

Says the Goldsboro Messenger: "We learn that on Thursday night last, as the train from Wilmington was passing through near New Bern, some wounded three a stick of wood into the sleeping car window, but fortunately no one was hurt. We understand that three negroes were arrested on suspicion."

The Charlotte Observer says that a sad accident occurred near the Mecklenburg line in Union County, N. C., on Thursday last, which resulted in the death of Mr. Joseph Hough, who was employed at a steam saw mill owned by Mr. Eli Hinman. In attempting to jump over a log his pants were caught by the saw and his body was mutilated in a frightful manner. His death occurred the next day.

Romance of the War.

Tom Evans, the N. C. correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer gives the following interesting incident connected with the late war. Truth is sometimes stranger than fiction:

"In the beginning of the war, about the last of May, '61, the Lafayette Light Infantry, from Fayetteville, N. C., passed through Petersburg and were drawn up in front of Jarrett's Hotel, and a crowd of ladies stood on the verandah and pitched them bouquets. Private Hamilton McMillian had seen a good deal of that sort of thing, and he didn't pick up the flowers much. But a negro boy came to him with a beautiful bouquet in his hand, tied with a beautiful ribbon, and said, 'That lady up thar said please to accept 'em from her.' Mr. McMillian received the flowers and set them, and looked up the verandah, but there was such a crowd, and all of them belonging to the soldiers, he couldn't find out who she was. But listen! The flowers faded, and he kept the piece of ribbon. In double-quitting one day on the Peninsula under Magruder he broke his cartridge strap, and tied it together with this same piece of ribbon.

Shortly after this he cut off a piece of fannel from a dead Yankee Zouave's blouse, that a bullet had gone through and was bloody, and put it in his cartridge-box where he kept his priming-wire. At the end of his volunteer term, six or twelve months, he returned, with his company to Fayetteville, and all the guns and accoutrements were delivered up, and shipped right back to Virginia, under Col. Lee, who wanted them to arm another regiment. After the war a Yankee Colonel, named Curwin, established local police in the prominent towns of this State, and armed them with guns that the Government shipped him. The local police were made up of the old Confederate soldiers.

One day in Fayetteville, Mr. McMillian noticed the box of a local police, and went over to examine it, remarking, "It looks very much like the one he used to wear." The Rebels said he didn't know; the Yanks had given it to him, all he knew about it. Opening the lid, he looked inside, and feeling about, bashed out the same old piece of Zouave fannel, and worked away under the shelter of the box and latched tight on to the belt was the identical piece of beautiful ribbon that had tied the bouquet in Petersburg. The Rebels willingly let him take his box and belt, and he has that ribbon at home now, and although one of the cleverest married men in Fayetteville, he prizes that ribbon as a most precious souvenir, and with the writer, would like to know "what Petersburg lady was it?" This cartridge-box and belt had gone all through the war in Virginia, and was captured by the Yanks, and still the ribbon returned safe to Mr. McMillian at home."

The Norfolk, Connecticut, fire department is rendered nearly useless by the high pressure of water in the pipes, which enables the hydrants to throw water over the highest flagstaff in the borough.

An English reviewer says there is more poetry written now in one year than was written during the whole of the eighteenth century, and dyspepsia has increased in the same proportion.

[From Our Special Correspondent. Sketches of Travel in Western North Carolina, by our Traveling Correspondent.]

Having recently made a tour through some of the most splendid scenery and loveliest sections of Western North Carolina, I propose to communicate the impressions made upon my mind, while bivouacking upon her mountains, passing through her sunlit valleys, and drinking from her ice-cold springs. In the mean time a feeble essay will be attempted to describe the soft beauty of her valleys embosomed by mountains, now thickly clustering, now isolated and lordly in their towering majesty, her bright flashing rivers tumbling in mimic cascades over rocks old and hoary, and the primeval forests of hickory, laurel, chestnut and spruce pine, that grow in regular gradation from the level lying plain to the very summit of her peaks.

Until quite recently the many attractions of Western Carolina were known only to a few, and those few consisted of staid and wealthy families from our own and sister Southern States, who made her sweet waters and sequestered nooks their summer homes during the summer heats. They went there in search of health, not to float with the tide of fashion. Then no notes from the guitar or violin cheered on the lagging hours, as fond bean and gay bellies, North Carolina Extra $50.

"COME."

Under the oak-tree lying,
Buried in the ground I see.
Winter is dead;
Tassel of red
Burst from the maple-tree:
And the leaves and linnets
Are echoing back
The songs of the little birds—
We have come, we have come,
From our home,
From far across the sea!
And the heart it says, "Come."
And the heart it says, "Come."
To the little birds;
For I know now the spirit
Of the birds, and
That sang to me thus
With the voice of a bird.

Seventeen Trunks—How the Misses Hunter Contrived to get their Luggage to their Home.

The Misses Hunter, of Morristown, having spent an agreeable summer vacation in their home, lately arrived in New York, previous to their starting for Morristown, and purchasing the Morris and Essex depot same to the baggage master, respectfully requesting him to have their trunks, seventeen in number, checked. The shrewd dignitary gave a long shrill whistle, and informed them that the express office was the proper place in which to apply if they wished to take their trunks with them, as each passenger was allowed but one hundred pounds baggage. Inquiry at the latter place revealed the fact that the exorbitant tariff of $1.25 was demanded for each trunk. Upon the ladies remonstrating, the expressman relented and agreed to send the contraband goods for a long dollar each. But the ladies, remembering that passenger (and a trunk if he chose) is carried over the road for eighty cents, demurred even at this minimum, and without further ado quietly walked to ticket-office and bought fifteen tickets. These they exhibited to the baggage official who gave the ladies the checks they sought. The result of this financial maneuver is that the Misses Hunter have fifteen tickets, only two of them being demanded by the conductor; as they are good until used according to a stipulation, the company may be compelled to transport fifteen passengers, with as many trunks, if necessary, from New York to Morristown—N. Y. Sun.

THE LARGEST BRIDGE IN THE WORLD.—The London Builder gives the following dimensions of a bridge to be constructed over the Frith of Froth: The structure will be by far the largest bridge in the world. It will be 150 feet in height, and will contain nearly 100 spans. The greatest span, or nearly a third of a mile in extent—dimensions which are without parallel for any similar piece of architectural construction. The smaller openings or spans will be 150 feet in width, being considerably beyond the average dimensions of the largest spans in ordinary bridges. It will cost at least $10,000,000.

The strike in the English coal regions, and the consequent rise in the price of fuel, in combination with the stand taken by the trades unions for higher rates of wages, are seriously affecting various branches of industry in that kingdom. The London Times points out the loss sustained, by the iron trade in particular, from these causes. It notices the fact that the United States is successfully competing with English manufacturers of iron, in Canada, South America, and the West Indies.

The mother of Bou-Mezrag, the Arab chief condemned to death for his share in the last Arab insurrection against the French, arrived in Paris some days back to solicit the life of her son. Her efforts have been crowned with success, as the President of the Republic, at the intercession of Madame MacMahon, has signed an order for a commutation of the man's punishment.

Hon. John P. Hale, ex-Senator from New Hampshire, and subsequently United States Minister to Madrid, is lying in a hopeless condition. His eyesight and voice are gone, and it is the opinion of his physicians that he cannot long survive.

It is now reported that the confession of John T. Irving of his participation in the Nathaniel murder is probably false. Irving is a well known thief and burglar, and it is surmised that he fabricated the story to get a free passage from San Francisco to New York.

It is understood that Queen Victoria will visit the Isle of Skye while on her Highland tour. She will be the first of the Sovereigns since James IV., of Scotland, who has visited the Hebrides.
